Section 4: Teaching Accomplishments

- A. All AAMC awardees and honorees are expected to meet the AAMC's standards of professional ethics and scientific integrity articulated in our policies. (Standards of Professional Ethics and Scientific Integrity: Leaders of a professional community must embody the professional ethics expected of that community, including through demonstrating respect for the people they work with and serve; deliberate efforts to improve the value and rigor of their work through inclusion of diverse teams and perspectives; and unwavering discipline regarding the quality, integrity, and trustworthiness of their professional achievements. Breaches of professional ethics and scientific integrity include but are not limited to: A) Sexual harassment; B) Discrimination on the basis of sex, race, color, national origin, religion, age, ability, sexual orientation, gender identity, or any other characteristic protected by law or institutional policy against students, residents, research assistants, employees, colleagues, research subjects, or patients in all professional settings; C) Research misconduct, including fabrication, falsification, or plagiarism in proposing, performing, or reviewing research or in reporting research results; D) Any action that results in the loss of a professional license to practice.)

Do you have any concerns of which the AAMC should be aware regarding the nominee satisfying this expectation? (Yes/No)

- B. Please provide information about the nominee's principal involvement in medical student education and the reason for his/her nomination (3,500-character limit, including spaces).
- C. Please provide information about any recognition received by this nominee as a distinguished teacher, including citations, when available (1,500-character limit, including spaces).
- D. Please provide information about how the nominee has built their capacity as a teacher. Strong examples include education sponsorship and leadership and mentorship of medical students or other faculty. (1,500-character limit, including spaces).
- E. Nominees who have published in the field of medical education whose educational materials have been adopted by other institutions will be especially considered. Please indicate below if this applies to the nominee. Strong examples include grants, MedEdPORTAL contributions, and invited presentations (1,500-character limit, including spaces).

Section 5: Process for Selecting Faculty Member

Please provide information about the process for selecting this faculty member for recognition as the school's nominee for the Alpha Omega Alpha Robert J. Glaser Distinguished Teaching Award. Specifically comment on how colleagues, students, and peers were involved in the process (500-character limit, including spaces).
